SHAMS center denounces the imposition of the death penalty against Iraqi women

With a big shock we received news of the preparation for the execution of a group of Iraqi women by the Iraqi government.

We are in the Center for Human Rights and Democratic in Palestine call for the Iraqi government to reverse this unjust decision, and for the non-implementation of the resolution under any pretexts or circumstances.

The SHAMS Center reminds the Iraqi government the need to respect its commitments and international obligations, in particular the International Bill for Human Rights and other related conventions.

We urge all humanitarian and human rights agencies to carry out the broadest campaign of solidarity with Iraqi women to stop this injustice against them.

We also recall that right to life still standing on top of all rights, and that there is no senseful value for all rights if this right is confiscated.

Finally, from an absolute conviction that the human right to life that his God-given shouldn't be confiscated or infringed in any way, we are by virtue of membership in a coalition against the death penalty in Palestine feel that it's incumbent upon us to be the first defenders to this right.
